

EAST BAY PESTICIDE ALERT / DON'T SPRAY CALIFORNIA PRESENTS:

Who's Afraid of the Light Brown Apple Moth?

Sunday, February 24, 2008 - 1:30-3:30pm

Zocalo Coffeehouse, a Family-welcoming Community Spot
645 Bancroft Ave. @ Dutton
San Leandro

(West from the Dutton/ Estudillo exit, 580; East from the Davis St. exit, 880)

On AC Transit lines

Presentations will include:

- Background of the program, some pesticide toxicology specifics, and legal update, by the founder of StoptheSpray.org
- A look at the cyclical nature of these kinds of programs, comparing to the Glassy-winged Sharpshooter and Mosquito Abatement programs as well as life lived within one of Sonoma's devastating cancer clusters, by the founder of East Bay Pesticide Alert.org. Tidbits about Caltrans spraying, too
- Description by one of the people living in zone directly sprayed who was sickened, as were at least hundreds who reported, to speak about what it was to live through the sprayings, the health problems, being turned away by doctors and turned out by the Public Health Department, and what it is like to live on edge waiting for the next sign of a plane coming to spray, Ag. people coming to tie toxic strips onto the branches of the trees your kids climb, or workers painting utility poles with Permethrin mixed with pheromones
- We also plan a talk by one of the organic farmers whose farms were sprayed. What are they to do? While CDFA says they still can label organic, this destroys the meaning of the label. So who stands for them, let alone the rest of us who depend on organics for our families' health? How do we come together to support them, and us?

INFO: 510-895-2312 www.eastbaypesticidealert.org *scent-free, please

